

josh allan DYKSTRA

The Future Of Work Is Human Energy™

Josh Allan Dykstra is the world's foremost practitioner on the Future Of Work and Human Energy™, teaching audiences how to create more impact and experience more wellbeing at the same time.

As a musician-turned-tech founder, Josh offers a refreshing perspective on “HR” practices, inspiring influential leaders to think bigger, challenge the status quo, and create a better future for everyone. Over the past two decades, Josh has served a client list of companies that collectively employ over a million people. Josh is the founder and CEO of #lovework, and his articles and ideas have been featured by Fast Company, Forbes, The Huffington Post, and Business Insider.

He holds an MBA in Executive Leadership from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and his latest book, Igniting the Invisible Tribe: Designing An Organization That Doesn't Suck, is available on Amazon and Audible.

